MANAGER'S CORNER

2010 started off with a bang...if that's what you want to call the record-breaking series of cold days we saw in January. Personally, I look forward to the cooler weather, but I don't look forward to the colder weather staying around for as long as it did. That's not why I moved to South Florida. I moved down here so I could laugh at all of the northern folks who are digging themselves out of record snowfalls, dealing with extreme cold temperatures, and kicking those pesky blocks of ice from the rear of their tires. Some things I'll NEVER miss.

January's lengthy drop in temperature will have long-lasting effects, some of which are only beginning to show now. Most of the landscape plants are showing at least a little burning, and many have lost quite a few leaves. Even though some of the plants look horrible right now, don't take them out yet. Losing leaves is a defense mechanism for plants when subjected to extreme cold or heat, lack of water, or chemicals. Wait a few weeks until it warms up before you think about replanting your landscaping. You might be pleasantly surprised when you see new growth coming out of the stems of plants you thought were long dead.

Some of our snowbirds are going to be leaving soon, and residents will also be taking vacations; so I want to remind everyone about a few tasks to complete before leaving the property.

In addition to shutting off the water for the entire house, turn off the breaker for your water heater. In the unfortunate event that your water heater ruptures, shutting off the electricity will keep the coils from heating up with no water in the tank and possibly starting a fire. If you don't know how to do this, call me, and I'll be happy to come by and mark your breaker panel and show you where to turn off the water. If you're leaving for more than a week or so, it's also a good idea to call Pam Beach Water Utilities at 740-

4600 to have them shut off the water at the meter. If a break in the piping occurs between the water meter and your house, you get the bill for all of the water. Breaks before the meter are the responsibility of Palm Beach County Water Utilities. Call the same number about a week before you return to have the water turned back on.

Walk around your house and pick up all of the landscape decorations, especially if you won't be visiting the home during hurricane season. If a storm hits, no one will have time to retrieve these ornaments and store them safely. Everything that is not bolted down – and sometimes things that are – can become projectiles in a storm. Do your absolute best to secure your property inside and out before you leave for an extended period of time. It will only make your return a more pleasant experience.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

By Joel Rosenthal

Congratulations to Harvey Galan, Sy Kugalmas and Doris Davidoff on their recent election to the Board of Directors (BOD). Doris will be the chairperson of the Documents Committee and should also be a big help with our office hardware and software. She will also be working on the new Wi-Fi for the clubhouse. Harvey Galan will be chairing the Clubhouse and Pool Committee, while Sy will once again chair the Finance Committee. Residents are encouraged to lend their expertise by joining the various committees. We thank Irene Weinstein for her service on the Board and Marge Chappell for her service to MI over many years. As residents, it is important that we all stay involved with the issues that come up.

The year 2010 will bring some changes to our community. Prime Management will be handling our bookkeeping. We have a new auditor and a new bank. We are looking into aesthetic and functional improvements to our entrance. A new security camera system will be installed at the front gate. Tree trimming, mulch application and tennis court improvements are underway.

The days and times of our meetings have also been changed. The Board of Directors will meet for a workshop at 2 p.m. the first Monday of each month and the regular meeting will take place on Thursday evening of that same week at 7:30 p.m. We hope that this new schedule will encourage better attendance.

Remember to watch channel 63 and our web site for up-to-date MI news. The BOD is here to serve you, the residents, but we must have your input if we are to know what you need.

I wish you all a healthy and happy 2010.

By Ken Keller, Captain

Let's hope the very cold weather has passed.

With warmer weather, many of you will start to keep your garage doors open during the day and early evening. At the same time, your cars are there – unlocked, they are an invitation for a "crime of opportunity," a type of crime prevalent in Florida.

Please do not become a victim. Lock your car. Lock your doors. Use your alarm.

Highlights of the January 20, 2010 COBWRA Meeting

The December meeting of the Coalition of Boynton West Residential Associations was held at Platina.

Gary Nikolits, PBC Property Appraiser

Mr. Nikolits described the Florida laws he must follow in doing his job. He stated he does not set the taxes. Taxes are set by the taxing agencies. He sets the taxable valuations used to calculate your property taxes.

- * By Florida law, property values are estimated as of January 1 of each year and based upon trends seen in the previous year. Three values are tracked: Market Value, Assessed Value and Taxable Value.

- * Market Value is the price at which a property could be sold, using comparable sales to set market value.

- * Assessed Value is the Value as restricted by the Save Our Home 3% cap on increases for Homestead Property or the 10% cap on non-Homestead Property.

- * Taxable Value is Assessed Value minus exemptions. This is the value upon which taxes are levied.

- * The Property Appraiser estimates the Market Values as of Jan 1, applies benefits such as Save Our Homes, then applies any appropriate exemptions and reports the Taxable Values to taxing authorities on July 1.

- * Taxing authorities make a budget to get the number of dollars needed from property taxes. The total dollars budgeted needed is divided by the total of all taxable values to get the Tax Rate, usually expressed as millage.

- * Tax Rate X Taxable Value = Your Property Taxes.

- * For 2010, Nikolits expects Taxable Values to keep going down so the taxing authorities will have to raise the Tax Rates to collect the same dollars as in 2009. With a smaller Tax Base, this means higher taxes.

Congressional Primary Candidates Forum

Two Democrats and three Republicans are vying for nomination as their party's candidates to replace Congressman Wexler who recently retired. The winners will be determined in the Feb 2 Primary Election. Bonnie Cohen, Chair, Legislative Affairs, asked the candidates this question: "If elected, on which Congressional committees would you like to serve?

Ted Deutch (D): "I would like to serve on the Ways and Means Committee because they deal with Social Security and Medicare. I want to preserve Medicare. I would like also to serve on the Foreign Affairs Committee. We should prevent all investments in Iran."

Ben Gruber (D): "I would like to serve on the Commerce Committee. This is where Health Care and Insurance will be reformed. As a physician, these are my main interests. I would also like to serve on the Foreign Relations committee to protect us against terrorism."

Joe Budd (R): "My first choice is the Budgeting Committee. With my finance and accounting background,

I believe in a balanced budget amendment. I also would like the Ways and Means Committee. It is not right that people on Social Security got no COLA while Congress gave themselves a 5% raise."

Curt Price (R): "My first choice is Foreign Affairs because I believe Israel is an important issue. Israel should determine its fate and they should keep their settlements. Second choice is the Budgeting Committee because we need to get our finances under control."

Edward Lynch (R) was invited but unable to attend.

Officials' Reports

BCC Chair, Commissioner Burt Aaronson was pleased that the new traffic signal at Flavor Pict and Hagen Ranch Roads is finally operational. He said he drives back and forth each day just to look at it.

Capt. Marty Bechtel, PBSO Dist. 6, reported 579 residential burglaries and 831 vehicle burglaries for year 2009. There have been several recent thefts of flat screen TVs from patios and pool sides. Be warned!

David Horowitz, new Chief, Fire Rescue, Battalion Four, reported they are testing a system to change traffic lights as Fire Rescue vehicles approach an intersection.

COBWRA Reports

President Ken Lassiter reported the second COBWRA Evening Meeting will be Monday, March 1, 7:00 pm at the West Boynton Library. Evening meetings are for people whose schedules prevent them from attending morning COBWRA meetings. This program will include 3 speakers and a panel of four experts to address helping our young people deal with their problems.

Bethesda Memorial Hospital is still open to scheduling a presentation in your community about the new Bethesda West Hospital to be built on the NE corner of US441 and Boynton Beach Blvd. Call 736-9678 for your date.

Gerry Morrison, Growth Management Chair, described a proposed new community on Hypoluxo Road west of Military Trail, next to Albertson's grocery. Isola Bella Isles includes 253 zero lot family homes, 161 family condos and a 200-child day care center. The condos are Workforce Housing for families with incomes of $40,000 and up for a family of four. The proposed development was approved by the delegates.

Joan Brunswick, Health & Flu Shots Chair. The committee completed the H1N1 Vaccine Clinics with 4,511 people from 47 communities receiving shots.

Future Meetings (Open to the public)

Feb 2, 6:30 pm: Growth Management at PBSO Dist. 6
Mar 1, 7:00 pm: COBWRA Evening Meeting at West Boynton Library, 9451 Jog Road. Panel of experts discussing, "Helping our young people deal with their problems." All Delegates and Alternates welcome.

MEET THE NEWSLETTER STAFF

Stan Davidson has written over 100 "Gardening in the Isles" articles for our newsletter. His interest in maintaining his lawn and the many shrubs, fruit trees and foundation plantings around his home. Stan's first love in his garden was his roses, his hanging baskets and containers of vegetables.... (He loved it all.) His garden received a Garden of the Month award from the Pleasant Hills Gardening Club.

Stan served on the M.I. Board of Directors for six years, during four of which he was responsible for maintaining and enhancing our properties. He was instrumental in M.I. being the county's first Home Owner's Association to receive the Florida Yards and Neighborhoods Program Award for its landscaping.

Upon moving to Majestic Isles, Stan became interested in gardening in south Florida and volunteered as a docent at the Mounts Botanical Garden. He soon enrolled in the University of Florida's Master Gardeners Program and graduated as a Master Gardener in June 1999. For the past 10 years, as a Master Gardener for the Palm Beach County Extension Service, he has volunteered over 2000 hours answering inquiries from gardeners throughout the county via a telephone hotline. Recently he contributed to the international scene by being quoted extensively in a New Zealand gardening magazine, Alfresco.

Over the past two years, he has written numerous articles on gardening that have been published in the Sun Sentinel Forums. He expects to publish a book entitled, "Gardening within the Gated Community," which will include many of his articles. The preface will acknowledge the M.I. residents who have faithfully read his newsletter articles and enhanced their properties using information he provided. He will dedicate the book to his lovely wife, Janice.

Stan enjoys both gardening and writing about it. He plans to continue in this capacity to provide a Happy Gardening ending message to all the readers of our newsletter.

Do you have a special interest that would make a good column for the newsletter? We're always looking for new features.

IN THE WORKS

Because of the cold weather, the start of house painting and roof cleaning has been delayed until sometime in February. Check the bulletin board in the rear lobby of clubhouse to see if you are on this year's list.

A new committee has been formed to finish decorating the second floor of the clubhouse. We plan to improve the appearance of the rooms with window treatment and artwork.

When Comcast finishes the necessary installation work, WiFi will be available at the library for everyone who wishes to use this new program.

Gardening in the Isles

By
Stan Davidson

Last December, I was asked for information pertaining to the hedges that we grow in south Florida. To my surprise, the inquiry came from Ms. Debbie Lyttle, a roving reporter for a New Zealand gardening magazine entitled Alfresco. While on assignment in Florida, she was impressed and interested in the variety and the manicured shapes of hedges growing in here. Let me share with you the contributions of a West Palm Beach landscaper, Jorge Sanchez, and of myself that will be published in Alfresco magazine in New Zealand:

“Generally hedges have a number of purposes.” says Jorge Sanchez. “They clarify property boundaries, act as barriers to livestock and a buffer to visual pollution. They are used to reduce traffic noise, act as windbreaks and can be an effective form of security. In landscape design, they create distinctive lines and when kept below knee height were used to create formal borders and knot gardens, popular in Europe during the 16th and 17th centuries.

“But more than anything else, the hedges of Palm Beach are planted for privacy. Jorge is a local and renowned landscape architect of the firm Sanchez and Maddux whose creative work is the subject of a recently published book, “The Civilized Jungle.” It peeks into the estates behind the Palm Beach hedges; groves of banyan trees, latticework of jasmines, boxwood parterres filled with begonias, terraced pools with distressed coquina paving, the quiet splashing of wall fountains, the sultry scent of yang yang trees and the placement of urns, obelisks and jars, as well as unique statuary and Spanish tiles.

“As for the art of growing hedges, Master Gardener Stan Davidson, who resides in Majestic Isles, a gated community in Palm Beach County, described them as relatively easy to grow. They don’t take a lot of nurturing. They are fast growing, about one foot a year. They don’t need nurturing like a rose or an orchid.

“Stan agrees that the most common hedge is the ficus which is extremely durable in the tropics. Thick and dense they grow fast and can be pruned to a formal look.

“However, he warns there are several disadvantages to ficus hedges. To control the white fly, contact and systemic sprays are required. Also, the ficus has an invasive root structure, especially if grown over six feet tall. It can then undermine concrete paving and wreak havoc on swimming pool plumbing.

“As for hedge possibilities, Stan suggests the ixora for its bright orange flowers and a Florida native, the silver buttonwood, which has long, leathery, frosted green leaves. Native hedges are promoted by Palm Beach County, since they require less water and are less prone to pests and diseases than the non-native hedges.

“The flowers of hibiscus hedges, he says, are very pretty, but if the formal look is desired, the blossoms may end up pruned off prematurely during the shaping. Other hedging plants he recommends are the Indian hawthorn, cocoplum, and the low growing gold mound duranta and the low growing green island ficus. Stan believes that the ideal height for a hedge is six feet especially with Florida’s hurricane season. Hurricanes can certainly cause some damage. When Wilma came through in 2005 some top-heavy hedges flopped over. Of those, some were able to be rescued by lifting them back into place.”

It was an honor for me to be quoted as this magazine is one of the leading gardening publications in New Zealand, featuring leading edge landscapes, design ideas, garden art and crafts from around the world.

Happy Gardening!!

HOLIDAY SEASON PART 2

By Phyllis M. Cohen

If you blinked the last week of December, you may have missed the transformation that occurred in the media and the stores as Christmas and Chanukah disappeared from sight and the February holidays were ushered in. Gone were the red and green of Christmas and the blue and white of Chanukah to be replaced by pink and white and red hearts and flowers and fat little cupids.

Ah, Valentine's Day, a day to celebrate true love, and to make up for any omissions or oversights that may have happened in December. If you gave your spouse a crockpot or flannel nightgown for Christmas, or your significant other a toilet bowl plunger or book on dieting, you have a chance to atone and regain their good wishes by plying them with chocolates and flowers, bustiers from Victoria's Secret and gold chains and bracelets. Like Halloween, long regarded as a children's holiday, Valentine's Day has grown into a commercialized, over-blown gift extravaganza. Once upon a time, it was strictly an event to celebrate affection and love between spouses, girl friends and boy friends, special friends or would be sweethearts. In school, your teacher decorated a Valentine mailbox made out of a shoebox or carton. Homemade cards and notes or an occasional purchased card would be slipped in to be delivered to classmates. Most teachers always made sure there were a few cards for the less popular kids so that everyone had a card or two to open. Someone's mother baked heart shaped cookies and smart husbands and boyfriends made sure to stop at the store for a bunch of flowers or a box of Whitman's candy to bring home.

But like Topsy, Valentine's Day has just "growed." You can buy cards for every person in your life, as well as your dog or cat, your boss and mother-in-law. Somewhere, I'm sure, there are cards for your ex-husband, the boss who fired you, and the vicious neighbor next door. In short, the present standard of political correctness means that no one can be excluded or rejected in this modern day "love in." Kyra Sedgwick undoubtedly has a card for Julianna Margulies congratulating her on winning the Golden Globe award Kyra coveted, Jon Goselin must still send a card to Kate, Rush Limbaugh probably will send President Obama a card extolling his stiff upper lip and Joe Lieberman must get a valentine from the Democratic party reminding him of their previous love affair.

But Valentine's Day is not the only holiday that has changed. Not too long ago, the birthdays of Presidents George Washington and Abraham Lincoln occupied their own place on the February calendar. Every school child knew that February 12 was Lincoln's birthday and spent his social studies period making log cabins or reciting the Gettysburg Address. On February 22, everyone would have George Washington's picture clipped from the Sunday newspaper magazine section to display in class and Parson Weem's tale of the famous cherry tree incident would be debunked while Washington's bravery at Valley Forge would be remembered. Then the two holidays were welded into a single Monday holiday observance good for a three-day weekend and selling cars and appliances. All the presidents, theoretically, would be honored, or so the thinking went. But like Valentine's Day, in honoring everyone, you seem to honor no one.

Fortunately, one holiday remains untainted by commercialism, gift giving, and the need for three-day weekends. Groundhog Day retains its pristine origins and traditions. The top-hatted officials still await the emergence of the groundhog on February 2, and to date, no one has suggested that Punxsutawney Phil be paired with a female groundhog, Punxsutawney Phyllis (no relation to me) for equal rights' sake. Of course, you can buy on the web a host of hats, stuffed animals and other junk to mark the celebration. The best way to celebrate may be to just rent that hilarious Bill Murray movie, "Groundhog Day," and sit back and relax.

And if the February holidays aren't enough to restore your spirits from the post Christmas blues, take heart, the Saint Patrick's Day shamrocks and leprechauns are already lurking in the stores with the Easter bunny and Easter baskets right behind them.

INVESTORS DISCUSSION GROUP

By Al Silverman, Facilitator

A review of the many stocks mentioned at our meetings over the past year, finds that most have risen in price from 25% to 50%. That sounds good until you notice that many growth issues have also grown by a similar amount. You may conclude that, during this period, you could have achieved similar results with many mutual funds or by throwing darts. Well, that may be so. However, the stocks we have talked about produced predictable income of 8% to 16% in addition to the above-mentioned growth.

Does that mean such yields are still available? As we have discussed in the last few meetings, as the market value rises, the calculated yield reduces even when the dividend remains the same. The current high yields of these or similar securities are now in the range of 6% to 12%---still not very shabby. However, we have climbed the ladder of risk to attain these levels because of their much higher prices. Are they now dangerous to hold? That may be a matter of opinion but they may require a greater degree of watchfulness due to their greater volatility.

In order to stay on a lower rung of the ladder of risk, our guest speaker, Walter Bieber, who has substantial experience in the investment arena, presented a review and analysis of Preferred Stocks, fixed income securities which may be suitable for retirees. Fred Stein then talked about some Mutual Funds that had a good long-term track record with attractive total return.

We try to evaluate the various types of securities available and protect ourselves financially in the light of the current struggles between the Bulls and the Bears as they are influenced by these questions:

- * How will the Government cope with the rising deficit?
- * Are we headed into inflation in the short term or the long term?
- * Does the price of gold indicate potential inflation or is it an indicator of a crisis in government or an economic and/or financial crisis?

* Will current high unemployment persist thru this year before recovering or will it continue thru next year and possibly beyond?

* That affects inflation-- that affects interest rates --that may affect jobs---and round and round we go. Is this scenario correct?

* How can we protect ourselves financially? Obviously, we want to protect our principal--produce income -and provide some growth at least equal to the inflation rate, now and in the longer term.

One class of securities that seems to approach these objectives are publicly traded Limited Partnerships (MLP). They include mid-stream energy assets -oil and gas pipelines, storage tanks, terminals, coal, ships, etc., that move energy from producer to user. Instead of paying income taxes, they pass approximately 85% to 90% of their cash flow thru to the investors. Most of that income is tax deferred due to depreciation but taxes will be payable based upon the reduced cost basis when the MLP is sold. Consult your tax advisor for more details. Examples of these securities were discussed for further evaluation and research as to suitability, etc.

We have often used the expression "Do your own research" at our meetings. At the next meeting on Monday Feb.8, 2010, at 4:00 p.m., the primary subject on the agenda will be "How to do elementary research with a computer, using Yahoo and other sites". It is relatively easy once you know how. While no system is perfect, this will give you a better understanding as well as help to evaluate the suitability of the investments you may be considering.

TAX CORNER

By Mel Burstein

To those of you who have always asked the question "When will I receive my information relating to the interest, dividends, and miscellaneous income that I have to report on my tax return?" Form 1099, which indicates the amount of income, earned in the prior year, used to be due no later than January 31 of each year. The law has been changed and the issuers of 1099's now have until February 15th.

Brokers beginning in 2011 will now have to report on Form 1099-B the tax basis of stock sold by its clients. The reporting period begins with the sale of stock purchased after 2010. Brokers will have to indicate on the 1099-B whether the sale resulted in a short term or long term gain or if the sale was a short sale. Transferring stock purchased after 2010 to a new broker will not change the reporting rule because the law also requires the transferring broker to report the basis to the new broker.

The Medicare premiums have increased for 25% of Medicare part B recipients. For singles with Adjusted Gross Income of more than $85,000.00 and for married with Adjusted Gross Income of more than $170,000.00 the premium has increased from $96.40 to $110.50 per month. There will be no change in the premiums for the other 75%.

Prior to 2010 when you inherited property, your basis in the property was determined based upon the Fair Market of the property at the time of death or the value of the property six months after death. The executor of the estate would be the one to make that decision. It is referred to as a stepped-up basis. The result of using the stepped-up basis was that all prior gains would escape taxes. In 2010 and only for 2010 there is no estate tax and no step- up in basis. Instead, the basis of inherited property will be determined by using the decedent's income basis (in most cases its cost) plus the executor is allowed to add $1.3 million to that basis. If assets are left to a surviving spouse an additional $3 million can be added to the basis. This tax law is scheduled to disappear in 2011 when the estate tax credit returns to being $1 million. The step-up basis rules also return in 2011, meaning that fair market value or alternate value will be used in determining basis.

In a Qualified Roth Distribution the earnings portion of the distribution is tax-free. A distribution is qualified if made after a 5-year holding period, which begins on the first day of the first year for which contributions were made and one of the exceptions below apply. The exceptions are

*Taxpayer is at least 59 1/2 years old

*The distribution is made due to death or disability

*The distribution is made to a qualified first-time homebuyer.

The five-year holding period for a beneficiary of a Roth Ira includes the time held by the decedent. A distribution that does not meet the qualified distribution requirements is deemed to be a non qualified distribution and all the distributions made are treated as made first from contributions and are nontaxable to that extent; distributions in excess of contributions (earnings) are taxable and may be subject to a 10% early withdrawal penalty.

Seniors who are employed, have earned income, and are subject to withholding tax are eligible for the "Making Work Pay" credit. The credit is a refundable credit up to $ 400 for singles and $800 for married taxpayers who file joint returns. Action taken by most employers relating to this credit was to reduce the withholding tax on their employees' paychecks. The actual tax rates did not change. The result of this was that when the seniors who are subject to this file their 2009 tax returns they will find that they owe more tax than they normally would or their refunds will be less. Those seniors that receive a private pension may be in the same position as those who have earned income. The above taxpayers in order to receive the tax benefit for 2009 will have to file schedule m with their 2009 tax return.

Remember the required minimum distribution from your IRA is back. In 2010 you will have until December 31, 2010 to take your required distribution. Failure to take the proper distribution can result in a penalty of 50% of the difference between what you should have taken and what your actual distribution was. You will also owe the income tax on the distribution taken.

FRIENDSHIP

By Thelma Mechanic

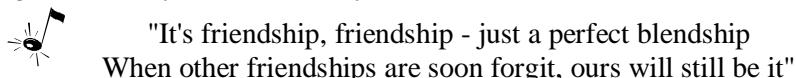

The television show "Friends" exhibited many kinds of friendship. These TV friends depended on each other under various circumstances. Friendships are vital to our existence, but what is a friend? Basically, as I see it, a friend is a person who cares about you. It is important to have another (or many) person in our lives who cares about what happens to us and to share joys and excitement, as well as offer companionships and understanding during bad times. Cole Porter said it best!

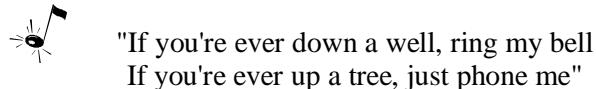

With a good friend you can be completely and honestly yourself while both of you are comfortable. You can talk about your deepest fears and know that your friend cares. When something good happens to you, your friend is happy too (not jealous). Sure, you can disagree with your friend - and that's okay, just as long as you respect each other's feelings in the process.

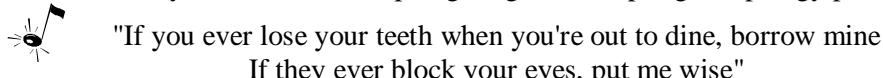

Friendship, like everything worth attaining in life, requires effort and attention. In my high school autograph book, my friend Helen (yes, we're still friends) wrote: "To have a friend, you need to be a friend." We've accepted each other with caring and honesty since our teen years.

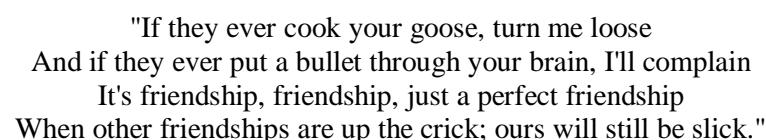

Are you there when the other person needs you? Sometimes you have to give up doing what you want to do to help a friend or neighbor. For example: driving him to a medical appointment, or doing some marketing if he/she is homebound.

It's okay to share your ups and downs with a friend. Everything isn't always fine. You might want to tell it like it is, "I'm really worried about my medical report." You needn't always agree with your friend's ideas or politics. If you see that you are wrong, be honest and admit it. You might want to attack your friend's views - but don't attack him/her. Mistakes show that you are human. Apologizing and accepting an apology proves that you care.

Above all, one doesn't take too much advantage of a friend. It's okay to allow others to occasionally do things for you, but don't allow yourself to become dependent. In this regard it's best to stay in the middle of the road, if possible.

On a more sober note by Anne Cummins:

Do not save your lovely speeches
For your friends till they are dead
Do not write them on their tombstones
Speak them rather, now instead.

INTRODUCING Gil and Barbara Portnoff

By Claire Deveney

Gil and Barbara Portnoff moved to Majestic Isles three months ago. They are charming, welcoming, soft spoken, and talented. They were both born and raised in Philadelphia.

Gil attended South Philadelphia High School for Boys and graduated from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, with a Bachelor of Science degree in pharmacy. The college, now known as the University of the Sciences in Philadelphia, is a private, coed university founded in 1821 as the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy – the first school of pharmacy in North America.

Shortly after graduation he was drafted and served two years in the U.S. Army and did basic training with the 101st Airborne in South Carolina and worked at the Regimental Headquarters of the 23rd Infantry in Alaska on all special orders.

Gil and Barbara were introduced by Gil's aunt and Barbara's mother. This June they will celebrate their 47th wedding anniversary.

Gil worked for over five decades in local, retail pharmacies in the Philadelphia area. He began in mainline suburban Philadelphia, which he explains is the third wealthiest zip code of residences in the U.S. He owned and operated three pharmacies, one near Villanova University, one in Drexel Hill, and the Radnor Pharmacy that he ran for 24 years. After he retired, he continued to work part time as a pharmacist three days a week and enjoyed the professional work and talking to customers.

Barbara started dance at 11. She graduated from Germantown High. She travelled from home to the center of Philadelphia by taking a bus, subway and a trolley. The trip to dancing school took an hour each way. She recalls that her dance classes met after school everyday from 7 to 9 p.m. and she would get home at 10 o'clock. She took ballet, tap and modern jazz. "I learned quickly," explains Barbara.

"All my school work and studying was done on the subway or buses," relates Barbara. As she progressed she helped the dance teacher twice a week with classes for the younger children.

Her junior high and high school gym teachers were dance majors. One gym teacher told her, "You are a dancer!" Students interested in dance could come to school at 7:50 a.m. and take ballet for gym credit. "This allowed us to leave school an hour earlier each day so we could do homework and attend dance classes at night, Barbara said.

"We had to keep our grades up. All of us loved dancing and what we were doing. The public school was so helpful in reinforcing our passion for taking dance lessons and learning dance," said Barbara.

As Barbara was completing her senior year, her dance teacher recommended to her that she try out for the world famous Radio City Rockettes.

"Another classmate and I tried out," she said. "I had a personal interview and then had to dance tap and ballet combinations. Then they taught us some routines and watched us go through our steps. We were there to have fun. We both got letters that we were accepted. That May, I was 18 years old and I said good-bye to my mother and became a Rockette!"

Barbara had a varied and fascinating career as a dancer. She performed several months with the Rockettes in New York City, then signed with an agent to do a theatrical road show that traveled the east coast and returned to New York. She also toured Canada from Montreal and Toronto through Edmonton to Calgary performing at major entertainment centers.

Back in New York where she continued her training, she met Gower Champion and Rex Harrison at the Central Plaza rehearsal studios. Gower Champion invited her to join the cast of "Bye Bye Birdie" and she performed in the show after it opened on Broadway. Barbara met many other famous show business performers, including Robert Duvall and Frank Sinatra. She also worked with Bing Crosby. The list is too long to be described in this article. After she married, Barbara owned a dancing school for children ages 3 to 18 for 46 years.

The Portnoff's have two grown daughters, Nina, who lives in the Philadelphia area and has four daughters, and Candace who lives with her husband, Zak, on 68 acres in Vermont.

Gil and Barbara are members of M.I.L.T. and Barbara worked backstage at the M.I.L.T. November production of "The Retrial of Harvey Bernstein." Gil has joined the Men's Club, and Barbara is a member of the Women's Club and Hadassah. They are enjoying their new life in Florida and look forward to exploring their professional interests in pharmacy and dance, respectively, making new friends and discovering new interests and places.

Welcome.

MAJESTIC ISLES LITTLE THEATER General Meeting, January 10, 2010

By Selma Friedman

The great Russian author Anton Chekhov used themes of imagination, guilt, gossip and fear of gossip in his short stories. Seena Calder presented "Chuckles With Chekhov," readings based on 3 of his stories. The first tale was "Overspiced" followed by "That Fresh Kid" and the concluding tale was "The Scandal Monger."

Warmly participating as the readers were Ed Bloom, Seena Calder, Doris Davidoff, Ron Gurvitz, Isabel Lubchansky, Mike Ost, Al Silverman and Fred Stein.

It was interesting to learn that Chekhov was also a doctor. At the age of 26 he fell ill with tuberculosis and suffered of it for the rest of his life, dying at the age of 44. He was also known as a great humanitarian.

February 14 is our next meeting, titled "One More Time." This delightful musical that has been planned for your enjoyment.

TENNIS CLUB NEWS

By Bobby Blitman

It's a new year and we are looking forward to a new beginning. We will be voting for new board members at the January meeting.

The courts have been resurfaced. The new Har-Tru will be less strain on our joints - and maybe help our play? All residents are welcome to join the Tennis Club. Dues are $10.

Remember the "Game's a Foot." Let's have fun and good sportsmanship.

WOMEN'S CLUB

By Barbara Roland

On January 12, we held our installation of officers. We want to thank Bonnie for doing the honors of installing our new board members. We had a delicious lunch from Famous Deli Market and were entertained by singer Mindy Mc Gee.

The joint Valentine's Day Party with the Men's Club has been cancelled.

Wednesday, Feb. 24, 2010 we will be going back to Murder On The Beach Bookstore. Price is $25.00 including lunch, and a signed copy of the book by the author. Please put choice of lunch and dessert on your check. Flyers are in the back lobby.

Monday, March 8, 2010 we will have our Appreciation Luncheon at Boca Greens Country Club. On Monday April 12, 2010 we will have our Canasta Tournament. Please watch Channel 63 for further information on these events.

SNOWBIRDS

By Marilyn J. Levy

The Friday, Jan. 8, 2010 Snowbird general meeting was well attended. The club voted overwhelmingly not to disband. Not enough people signed up for the trip to Jonathan Dickerson State Park so the Feb. 26 trip has been cancelled. We want to thank Ellen Alexander for her work trying to organize the outing.

Everyone enjoyed the theater party to "42nd Street". After the show we had dinner at McDivot's Restaurant at the Carolina's Club that was near the theater. Bobbie and Jack Greene worked hard getting the tickets and handling the arrangements. We are grateful to them for their efforts.

The next business meeting is Friday, February 5, at 11 a.m. in the clubhouse. We will plan for the 2010-2011 year. Please attend. We need your input.

Our end of the year event will be on Wed., March 10 at the Pavilion Grille, formerly known as Tavern on the Greenery. The restaurant is located in Boca at 301 Yamato Road near Dixie Highway in the atrium of an office building. We will have a three-course dinner and live music for dancing.

AROUND AND AROUND THE INTERNET

Let's face it - English is a crazy language.

- * There is no egg in eggplant, nor ham in hamburger; neither apple nor pine in pineapple.
- * English muffins weren't invented in England or French fries in France.
- * Sweetmeats are candies while sweetbreads, which aren't sweet, are meat.
- * We take English for granted.. But if we explore its paradoxes, we find that quicksand can work slowly, boxing rings are square and a guinea pig is neither from Guinea nor is it a pig.
- * And why is it that writers write but fingers don't fing, grocers don't groce and hammers don't ham? If the plural of tooth is teeth, why isn't the plural of booth, beeth? One goose, 2 geese. So one moose, 2 meese?
- * Doesn't it seem crazy that you can make amends but not one amend? If you have a bunch of odds and ends and get rid of all but one of them, what do you call it?
- * If teachers taught, why didn't preachers draught? If a vegetarian eats vegetables, what does a humanitarian eat?
- * In what language do people recite at a play and play at a recital? Ship by truck and send cargo by ship? Have noses that run and feet that smell?
- * How can a slim chance and a fat chance be the same, while a wise man and a wise guy are opposites? You have to marvel at the unique lunacy of a language in which your house can burn up as it burns down, in which you fill in a form by filling it out and in which, an alarm goes off by going on.
- * English was invented by people, not computers, and it reflects the creativity of the human race, which, of course, is not a race at all.
- * That is why, when the stars are out, they are visible, but when the lights are out, they are invisible.*

PS. - Why doesn't 'Buick' rhyme with 'quick'?

More quirks of the English language

- * There is a two-letter word that perhaps has more meanings than any other two-letter word, and that is 'UP.'
- * It's easy to understand UP, meaning toward the sky or at the top of the list, but when we awaken in the morning, why do we wake UP? At a meeting, why does a topic come UP? Why do we speak UP and why are the officers UP for election and why is it UP to the secretary to write UP a report?*
- * We call UP our friends. And we use it to brighten UP a room, polish UP the silver; we warm UP the leftovers and clean UP the kitchen. We lock UP the house and some guys fix UP the old car. At other times the little word has real special meaning. People stir UP trouble, line UP for tickets, work UP an appetite, and think UP excuses. To be dressed is one thing, but to be dressed UP is special.
- * And this UP is confusing: A drain must be opened UP because it is stopped UP. We open UP a store in the morning but we close it UP at night.
- * We seem to be pretty mixed UP about UP! To be knowledgeable about the proper uses of UP, look the word UP in the dictionary. In a desk-sized dictionary, it takes UP almost 1/4th of the page and can add UP to about thirty definitions..
- * If you are UP to it, you might try building UP a list of the many ways UP is used. It will take UP a lot of your time, but if you don't give UP, you may wind UP with a hundred or more. When it threatens to rain, we say it is clouding UP. When the sun comes out we say it is clearing UP...*

One could go on and on, but we'll wrap it UP.

SOCIAL CLUB

By Arlene Koch and Joan Sorkin

THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU AND THANK YOU AGAIN

Our functions and activities could not be possible without the help of our many volunteers. Our grandkids' activities held on Dec. 26 and 27 were very successful and the children had a wonderful time. There are pictures on our web site: www.majesticisles.com. Our helpers included: Estelle Snyder, Roberta Jaffie, Gerry Herman, Nancy and Teri Levitan, Betty Zeidler, Helen Benowich, Nancy Weiss, Fran Ost, Florence Cohen, Sylvia Fefferman, Joan Sorkin, Buddy Koch and Barbara Lader. The fishing buddies included: Marvin Sorkin, Sy Lubchansky, Sandy Dick and Morris Berman.

The New Year's Eve Party was a phenomenal success because of the hard work of Chairperson Doris Silverman and her competent assistants -- Rita Dick, Helen Genova, Arlene Koch, Barbara Lader, Mim Marder, Sheila Miller, Joan Sorkin, Bert Weinberg, and Irwin Zivitz. Equally important were Buddy Koch, Leo Miller, Alvin Silverman, Lee Katz and Michael Lippman. We hope to make all of our 2010 events just as great, but we cannot do it without your able assistance. If you would like to help, please call. We need you!

Our Social Club general meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 16 will begin at 7 p.m. and will feature "Dance Unlimited" a troop of forty students from nearby Lake Worth. This will be a very entertaining evening followed by coffee and... We hope you will attend and support the Social Club and our local youngsters.

SATURDAY, FEB. 6 at 8 p.m.: GRAN TURINO Walt Kowalski (Clint Eastwood, who also directs), a curmudgeonly Korean War veteran, must confront his Hmong immigrant neighbors -- and his own long-held prejudices -- when the family's teenage son, Thao (Bee Vang), tries to steal Walt's beloved 1972 Gran Torino. Walt soon assumes the unlikely role of guardian angel to young Thao and his sister Sue (Ahney Her), both of whom are vulnerable to local gang influences.

SATURDAY, FEB. 20 at 8 p.m. MY LIFE IN RUINS Love takes root amid the ruins of ancient Greece in this rom-com starring Nia Vardalos (My Big Fat Greek Wedding), Richard Dreyfuss and Rachel Dratch. BOOK TALKS & MORE

by Rita Leidner

On Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 2 p.m., we will have the pleasure of reviewing the novel "Sarah's Key" by Tatiana De Rosnay. Bonnie Golub will be our facilitator. This book is a profoundly moving novel.

The author's U.S. debut fictionalizes the 1942 Paris roundup and deportation of the Jewish community. An American journalist named Julia who is 45 years old is assigned to cover the 60th anniversary of this round up. Just when you thought you might have read about every holocaust horror, a book will come along and shine a light upon yet another haunting wrong. "Sarah's Key" is such a novel.

Don't miss this review. The book grabs your heart in the opening chapter and remains with you for a long time. All are invited to explore and enjoy this interesting review on Feb. 17 at 2 p.m.
